NEW DOMESTIC STUDENTS SCHOLARSHIPS

Samantha Johnstone, Australia

Studying: Bachelor of Event Management
Scholarship: ICMS Professional Scholarship

Scholarship recipient, Samantha Johnstone, was the top ranked student in her school year, scoring first place in the state of New South Wales in her Hospitality High School Certificate exams.

Not only did she achieve this result during the disruptive academic year of 2020 – but she also received Early Entry and was chosen as a Student Ambassador, as well being awarded an ICMS Professional Scholarship.

The combination of business, hospitality and event management subjects offered at ICMS is one of the things that attracted Samantha to ICMS.

Samantha decided to apply for a scholarship after she learned she had been offered Early Entry to ICMS. "I discovered there was an array of scholarship opportunities and that anyone could apply, which is truly astonishing," she said.

"Just before the final scholarship interview I got the call about being the top ranked in the state for Hospitality. I knew I needed to mention that in the scholarship interview. The interview panel seemed to like that and I am sure it gave me an edge in my scholarship application."

The scholarship panel was impressed not only with Samantha's top ranked position and overall results, but also with her maturity and poise during the interview process.

Accepting her scholarship at the March 2021 Scholarship Ceremony, Samantha said: "I am so appreciative of this opportunity."

"I remember being quite nervous about what to say in my scholarship interview because I am not entirely set on one linear career pathway and I have a passion for pursuing something in either events or entertainment. However instead of saying which I thought my interviewers wanted to hear, I spoke to my truth and expressed all the possibilities on my mind, which served me well in the end."

"So, my advice is this: no matter what you do, in everything in life, always stay true to you."

“

This time last year, standing on this stage was only in the realm of my imagination, but I'm glad to have made it a goal of mine - which I am now excited to say has become part of my reality.

NEW DOMESTIC STUDENTS SCHOLARSHIPS

Andrew MacGregor, Australia

Studied: Bachelor of Business Management (2017)

Scholarship: ANZ Bank Professional Scholarship in 2015

Industry training: ANZ

Since graduating: Analyst, Corporate Advisory (M&A) at ANZ Institutional Bank, Sydney

Since leaving ICMS in 2017, Andrew has worked full time at ANZ, Sydney. He recognised the immense strategic value of the ANZ scholarship's internship component, which gave him the edge when seeking work post-graduation. It also gave him access to valuable banking experience, mentorship and network opportunities while still a student.

Q: Why did you apply for a scholarship from ICMS?

I applied for a scholarship from ICMS because of the range of scholarships offered and the reputation of the companies supporting them. The ANZ Bank scholarship appealed to me due to my interest in Corporate Finance post-graduation and the well regarded reputation of ANZ in domestic and international banking markets. I knew how competitive it was to gain an internship with any of the institutional banks and saw how valuable the scholarship opportunity was. Tuition support, as well as having the opportunity for a 13-week paid internship at ANZ during my studies, certainly helped in starting off my career.

Q: What does your current role at ANZ entail?

I graduated from ICMS with a Bachelor of Business Management in 2017 prior to starting as a Graduate in ANZ's Institutional Bank. I have since been in a number of roles, including advising on Mergers and Acquisitions as well as advising on capital raisings. Most recently, I have been in a Leveraged and Acquisition Finance role providing debt financing to large corporates and private equity groups for the purposes of acquiring other businesses.

Q: How did you find the application process leading up to winning the scholarship?

I found the application process clear and easy to navigate.

The written component helped me explain what I was about and also why I was interested in applying for a scholarship in the first place. I also found the interviews were designed to discover your background and how well you were suited to a scholarship.

Q: How do you think being an ICMS Scholarship award winner helped you in your career?

The ANZ Bank Scholarship has certainly helped in my career thus far. Through my internship, I was able to meet some great managers who helped me with advice and assisted me in the application process for the Graduate program after my study. I knew applying for the Graduate Program at ANZ would be competitive and my experience through the scholarship helped me in differentiating myself. The Erasmus+ Scholarship that allowed me to study abroad also gave my applications an element of international exposure which also helped.

Q: What are some of your highlights from your time at ICMS?

The highlight of my time at ICMS would be the community at the college. The emphasis on academics was always balanced with a healthy focus on meeting people and social activities. I was fortunate enough to participate in a study abroad to Cologne, Germany, where I was able to meet friends from around the world who I am still in contact with and which also allowed for a lot of travel between classes. ICMS facilitated me being awarded the study abroad program through an Erasmus+ Scholarship from the European Union that provided financial support for travel and living expenses during my semester in Germany. This was not only a highlight of my studies, but was also a highlight from a personal perspective as well.

I knew applying for the Graduate Program at ANZ would be competitive and my experience through the scholarship helped me in differentiating myself (from fellow graduates).

NEW DOMESTIC STUDENTS SCHOLARSHIPS

Keegan Du Preez, Australia

Studying: Bachelor of Business Management (Accounting)
Scholarship: ICMS Professional Scholarship

ICMS Professional Scholarship recipient and accounting student Keegan Du Preez is committed to balancing his entrepreneurial ambitions with his philanthropic goals.

In 2018, Keegan and his family moved to Australia from South Africa in search of new opportunities and an improved quality of life. First moving to Victoria, Keegan took full grasp of the opportunities presented to him. He became School Captain in the two short years he attended Australian school, and he started his own tutoring enterprise helping 30 students with their studies.

Keegan decided on an accounting specialisation, because "within every aspect of life whether that be professional or personal, you need an understanding of finance. With a finance degree, you can work in any department, especially with having a general business background."

When applying for a scholarship, Keegan impressed the Scholarships Interview Panel with his commitment to community and charity work. He runs a sub division of a charity in South Africa. The Matts Foundation supplies under-privileged children with food, water, shelter and clothing.

ICMS was Keegan's top choice when choosing where to study accounting, as he believes "ICMS is realistic. They understand the realistic expectations of various markets. It's not just textbook knowledge, especially compared to every other competitor." The industry placement component was also a big deciding factor when choosing a tertiary educational institution.

"The industry placement component is an example of forward thinking, connecting industry partners with students and helping us progress in our careers."

“

I am keen to use this scholarship opportunity to 'pay it forward' one day. I've become very appreciative of what I have now and what I didn't have back then (when living in South Africa). My goal is to help make these types of opportunities available to as many people as I can.

Angus Richards, Australia

Studying: Bachelor of Business (Sports Management)

Scholarship: Courtney O'Connor Scholarship

"Being a student at ICMS presents so many opportunities - if you are willing to take them.

After moving away from home in Tamworth, NSW I lived on campus for my whole first year of studies. Living in the 'Castle on the Hill' was one of the best experiences, and I certainly recommend it to other students. I was able to make many friends from all over the world and volunteer as a Residential Leader."

Becoming a Student Ambassador was one of the many ways that I was able to develop my experience and employability skills while continuing my bachelor studies. This allowed me to travel and represent ICMS, while also building connections within the wider community.

I am completing a Bachelor of Business (Sports Management). I am very passionate about sports - playing and watching. I have been a part of several sporting teams and competitions since being at ICMS, including touch footy, tennis, basketball, and futsal.

I always knew that I wanted to work within the sports industry in some capacity, and when I found that I could do a sports degree that also gave me business understanding, I was excited to study at ICMS.

Academically, I have been fortunate to have many great lecturers who have pushed me to get the most out of my studies.

Receiving the Courtney O'Connor Scholarship has definitely been one of the highlights of my time at ICMS and I am grateful for the doors it has opened for me in this incredible community."

ICMS GRADUATE AND PROFESSIONAL CORPORATE PARTNER

Alejandro Jara, Venezuela

Studied: Bachelor of Event Management

Since Graduating: Owner, Black and White Waiters Pty Ltd
Corporate Partner – B&W Scholarship

ICMS graduate Alejandro Jara is the owner and founder of Black and White Waiters (B&W), Sydney's leading boutique Wait and Bar staffing agency, providing professional personnel to the Sydney events industry. B&W is also a valued industry partner of ICMS and provides an annual scholarship opportunity to current hospitality or events management students.

Q: What year did you graduate from ICMS, and with what qualification?

I graduated in December 2009 with a Bachelor of Business Management (Event Management). I was 23 at the time and started B&W a month before graduation.

Q: What career achievements are you especially proud of?

There is not just one career achievement or event, in particular, that I am proud of; I am grateful for the whole journey. One thing I am proud of is the fact that I tried. Even if my business had not been successful, I would have still been proud of trying.

Furthermore, I am also proud that I didn't give up during the first year where I had many challenges. The rest has just been a beautiful journey of growth but, believe me, the first few months were very difficult.

Q: What prompted you to partner with ICMS with a scholarship opportunity for ICMS students?

ICMS has always been extremely helpful to me and I still feel at home when I walk into the 'castle'. I felt that starting a scholarship partnership with ICMS would be mutually beneficial and it was also a way to support the institution that supported me in the past, and which still supports me now.

The ICMS Professional Scholarships Program also gives us the chance to recruit directly from the college and we have been extremely happy with the students that now form part of the staff of Black and White Waiters.

Q: What would be your advice to someone considering ICMS?

I would tell them that they are about to start one of the most special journeys of their life and that they must make sure to enjoy every second of it!

“

Since the beginning, and even now, I put into practice all the knowledge I learnt during my degree. I believe that my professional success goes hand in hand with my studies at ICMS.

Thabo Masechego Mangena, South Africa

Studied: Master of International Business

Scholarship: Postgraduate Innovation Scholarship Recipient

From a rural village in South Africa to the bright lights of Sydney, Master of International Business student Thabo Masechego Mangena seized the opportunity to apply for a scholarship at ICMS and is now well on his way to career success.

Thabo, a former Pumas Rugby player in South Africa who used to work at the Tshwane University of Technology in Pretoria, won an ICMS scholarship to study a Master of International Business. He plans to take his experience and education from ICMS back to South Africa to help his fellow countrymen, in the area of sport and development.

Q: Where are you from?

I was born in Ga-matlala, a rural village in the province of Polokwane, South Africa. This is where I grew up as a young boy until my parents moved to Johannesburg, seeking better education opportunities for me and my sister.

Q: You saw an ICMS advert come up on social media and saw an opportunity to come to ICMS on a scholarship. What prompted you to apply?

I wanted to push my boundaries and test my limits... I wanted to be in a diverse global environment and step out of my comfort zone.

Q: What will you do in the future, when you have completed your studies?

I will return to South Africa because I feel there is so much development that needs to happen in our country, especially in sport. I plan to take back home the education, experience and networks I'm gaining here, so I can implement change in how sport and business is administrated.

Q: What advice would you give those considering postgraduate study at ICMS?

They should stop thinking and just do it. Studying at ICMS is the greatest opportunity one could receive. My experience has been absolutely amazing.
