Acknowledgement of Country

The International College of Management, Sydney (ICMS), Aspire Institute and International Sport College Australia (ISCA) acknowledges the traditional owners of this land and elders, past and present. We recognise Aboriginal people as the original custodians of the Northern Beaches. Aboriginal culture is integral to our understanding of belonging, community and care of the land.

Welcome from the President & Managing Director

A very warm welcome to the graduands, family, friends and honoured guests to this day of celebration at the International College of Management, Sydney (ICMS), Aspire Institute and International Sport College Australia (ISCA).

Today marks a significant milestone in the lives of our graduating students as we honour their academic achievements.

During their time here with us, we have shared in their personal, academic and professional development.

They have benefitted from our learning and teaching excellence, extensive industry training and culture of innovation and entrepreneurialism that is the hallmark of what we stand for. I am confident that our ambitious graduating students will strive for excellence in their future careers and make their mark in the industry of their choosing.

Today's graduates will join their predecessors in finding personal and professional success in Australia and around the world.

I look forward to welcoming our graduating students to our alumni community and wish the new graduates every success.

Rowan Courtney-O'Connor
President & Managing Director

Congratulations from the Deputy Vice Chancellor (Learning and Teaching)

Congratulations to our graduands on their well-deserved success!

Today's graduation marks the culmination of years of hard work, dedication, and perseverance. Our graduands have shown a commitment to academic excellence that is commendable.

I like to acknowledge the principles of learning and teaching that have guided their academic journey at the International College of Management, Sydney (ICMS), Aspire Institute and International Sport College Australia (ISCA).

These are career-focus, global orientation, connectiveness with industry, academic staff and peers, and empowerment for learning through our mentorship and learning support.

We are proud of the accomplishments our graduands have achieved and who they have become.

As our graduands move forward into the next phase of their life, we wish them all the best for their future endeavours.

Remember, this is just the beginning of a lifelong journey of learning and growth.

I encourage all graduands today to keep striving for excellence, embrace new challenges, and never stop learning.

Professor Heidi Le Sueur
Deputy Vice Chancellor (Learning and Teaching)

The Ceremonial Mace

In 2022, the International College of Management, Sydney (ICMS), Aspire Institute and International Sport College Australia (ISCA) introduced the ceremonial mace to formal proceedings for the first time, marking a significant stage in the college's maturity as a higher education institution.

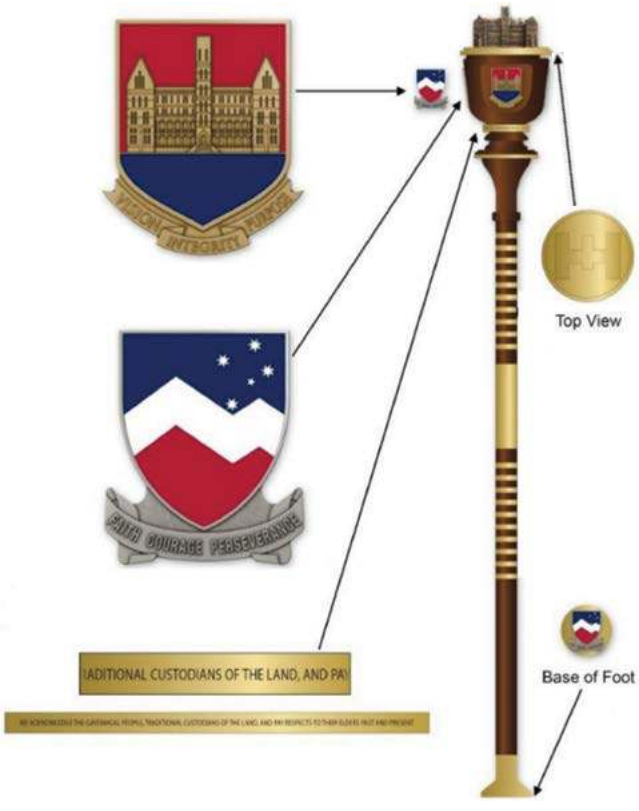

It is believed that the current traditions are founded in medieval England where the mace was employed in the protection of dignitaries at formal events and ceremonies. Since that time maces have become common in formal proceedings of governments and also within the higher education sector globally.

Now an essential part of official ceremonies in education institutions around the world, it signifies the strength and authority of the institution as a higher education institution and its ability to confer awards on its graduates.

The mace is a physical representation of who we are. It has a spiritual or Whakapapa connotation.

Further, as an Australian institution, we are cognisant of the historical significance of the mace in the local environment and also overseas and has developed its own protocols to both honour those traditions, but also reflect the college's unique character and history at the same time.

The design of the mace captures the culture and history of both the college and its founding family and is designed in such a way that its ongoing historical milestones can be captured progressively into the future.

The History of ICMS

On the ICMS Mace you will see bands of events representing significant events at ICMS.

The Australian walnut timber column on which all of this is carried is encircled by carved statements that depict our stories over the past 30 years. It links our past and present, while also allowing for space for more stories to be added in the future – our Whakapapa.
